

Now is the Time for Jazz

"Jazz at Lincoln Center...the most prestigious organization of its kind in the world." The Times of London

"...the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra, jazz's Dream Team." The Ann Arbor News

"...under Marsalis's influence, a jazz renaissance is flowering on what was once barren soil." Time

"The cause of music education hasn't had an advocate of this celestial magnitude since the late Leonard Bernstein." Newsday

"Jazz From Lincoln Center is the one radio program that is immediately engaging even if you don't know a lot about jazz." WBEZ-FM Chicago

Jazz at Lincoln Center is dedicated to the understanding and appreciation of swing and blues. Under Artistic Director Wynton Marsalis, the program uses a combination of concerts for adults and young people, national and international tours, weekly broadcasts on National Public Radio®, recordings, lectures, films, a competition for high school bands and more to bring the message of Jazz to as wide an audience as possible.
